THE CHALLENGE

Most people we know struggle with setting aside some of the important, consistent time it takes to get better acquainted with God. Many want to know Jesus better but don't want to invest the time it takes to learn about him and his ways.

We want to help you know Jesus better and grow deeper in your relationship with Him and His Word. In just three months, you can read through the entire New Testament in a disciplined, daily approach.

The 90-Day Challenge requires you to spend approximately 20 minutes reading a portion of scripture, reflecting and praying. This 3 month experiment has been the single most effective program of spiritual growth and discipline we have ever experienced. Both of us are wired in a way that we needed the little extra motivation, challenge and structure to make a daily time with God into a habit.

If 20 minutes is too much, turn it into a 180-Day challenge and simply take 2 days for each of the days represented in the book. It doesn't matter if you finish on Day 90...the goal is to make God's Word a part of your life. We're confident that you will not be the same person when you're done with the challenge.

This short program may become the stimulus you need toward developing a daily meeting with God for the rest of your life.

Twenty minutes a day is not a great deal of time when you think of the important growth that will transform your life as you get to know Jesus better. We all know people who spend hours every day on Facebook, YouTube, Texting, TV and other media opportunities that are having fun but that time typically isn't aiding their spiritual depth. We're not suggesting you throw away your electronics, we're just encouraging you to add a little bit of time to connect deeply with Jesus.

As you consider the challenge of the 90-Day Experience, keep in mind the powerful words in 1 Peter 1:24, "All men are like grass, and all their glory is like the flowers of the field. The grass withers and the flower falls, but the word of the Lord stands forever."

GETTING STARTED

A disciplined daily devotional life is not an option for Christian growth. It's a must! And, it's also a privilege. You have the opportunity for every day to spend time with your Creator and Savior. This daily quiet time with God will transform your life like nothing else can.

Let me explain what you will find in this book. You'll get a brief introduction of each book in the New Testament. Sometimes understanding who wrote the book and who they were writing to will make a big difference in understanding the important themes and highlights of each book in the New Testament.

Having read through the overview you will be ready to explore each book in the New Testament. The daily format is simple. Here's how it works:

- READ and ANSWER questions are straightforward questions about facts. Occasionally they will prompt you to read between the lines for significant points.
- REFLECT and PRAY questions suggest a topic for your own life. You, too, will be able to say with David, "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path" (Psalm 119:105).
- RESPOND and GROW questions give you the opportunity to put into practice the truths you learn each day.

Let me encourage you to approach your daily times in the Bible with a sense of expectation. Expect to meet Jesus in a new way each day. Expect God to speak to you in a very personal way. And expect to become the person God wants you to be as you daily spend time in His word. Claim the promise of James: "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you" (4:8 NASB). Below are some important thoughts on how your devotional time can be made more meaningful.

Find a specific time each day to meet with God. If you get in the habit of meeting with God at a specific time without interruptions, it will be easier to remain faithful to this commitment.

Find a quiet place to meet with God. Where you meet with God is important. Wherever you choose, make sure that it is free from distractions.

Determine what you hope to accomplish during your meeting with God. In other words, have a method. Do not approach your quiet time in a helter-skelter manner. Let GROWTH UNLIMITED serve as a program for your time with God.

Remember that a devotional meeting with God is not in-depth Bible study. A devotional time with God should include Bible reading, but not necessarily in-depth Bible study. Also save time for these things:

- PRAISE: "Let everything that has breath praise the Lord" (Psalm 150:6). Tell God of His greatness and His majestic power. Adore the Lord of Lords and King of Kings.
- THANKSGIVING: "Give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus" (1 Thessalonians 5:18). No matter what your situation or what problem you are facing, take time to consider the things in your life for which you can be thankful. This thankfulness can help you overcome negative thoughts and emotions.
- CONFESSION: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness". (1 John 1:9). We keep communication with God open when we confess our sins to Him. The word "confession" comes from a root word meaning "to agree together with". When you confess your sins to God, you are simply agreeing with Him that you have fallen short of the way He wants you to live. You are letting Him know that you desire a right relationship with Him.

- PETITION: “Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you” (Matthew 7:7). This an important part of your prayer life, but it is not the only part. Too often we rush to God, ask for things, and then rush away. Do pray for your family, friends, church, government, and yourself. Do not be afraid to ask God for things, but remember who is the Lord in the relationship – God is, not you.
- LISTENING: “My son, if you accept my words and store up my commands within you, turning your ear to wisdom and applying your heart to understanding...Then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God” (Proverbs 2:1-5). Prayer is a two-way communication. When you pray, take time to listen. God is speaking to you. Write down the thoughts which come to mind. The test those thoughts through the inner witness of your spirit. Take time to be quiet before the Lord.

Now grab a copy of the Bible (I’ve used the New International Version here), this manual, and a pencil—and enjoy the adventure.

INTRODUCTION TO THE NEW TESTAMENT

As you begin to read the New Testament, it is important for you to know how it is put together. The New Testament is composed of 27 books, and these books are divided into four categories—the Gospels, the Acts of the Apostles, the Epistles (or letters), and Revelation.

THE GOSPELS

“Gospel” means “good news”: Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John are the four accounts of the good news of Jesus Christ. Although never meant to be a complete biography, these books do tell the most important events and teachings in the life of Jesus. Together the four portraits, each highlighting different aspects of the character of Jesus, offer a dynamic and compelling picture of Jesus of Nazareth, the Son of God and our Savior.

THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

The section after the gospels is the Acts of the Apostles. This book is filled with the history of the early church after the death and resurrection of Jesus. Most of this section deals with the lives and ministries of Paul and Peter. This is a thrilling section to read as you witness the rapid expansion of the early church.

LETTERS

Next comes the 21 New Testament books which are written in the form of letters. These epistles are a more personal means of communication, as the writers address specific congregations or individuals for the purpose of encouragement and teaching. These letters fall into two main groups: those which Paul wrote, and those written by other people.

REVELATIONS

Finally, the book of Revelations is a fascinating piece of literature much different from the other books in the New Testament. This book is apocalyptic in style: It is poetic and visionary, communicating ideas through symbols and imagery. To take this picture-language literally or to treat the book as a logical timetable is to go against the entire spirit of it. This book, while rooted in the Old Testament, is dominated by the person of the victorious Christ.

Above his head they placed the written charge against him: THIS IS JESUS, THE KING OF THE JEWS (Matthew 27:37).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

- Who is this Jesus of Nazareth?
- How does He fit with the Messiah spoken of by the Hebrew prophets?
- What guidelines does Jesus offer for life?

John 20:31 states the clear purpose of all the gospels: "These are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name"--as crucial to us as to people in the time of the gospel writers. The same issue is at stake: Belief will lead to eternal life, unbelief to eternal death. Therefore, the two worlds are alike: Twenty centuries later we should ask with the first century believers, "Who is this Jesus of Nazareth?"

Matthew, a Jewish Christian, writes specifically to Jewish readers to answer this question and support his claim that Jesus is the fulfillment of Jewish prophecy. Matthew's purpose seems to be education rather than evangelism--he wrote not for the outsider but in order that believers could deepen their understanding of their roots (where they came from).

In the very first verse, Matthew introduces Jesus as the "Son of David" and so begins to form his argument: Jesus is clearly presented as the Messiah long awaited by the nation of Israel. Matthew quotes again and again from the Old Testament as he urges that Jesus is the One spoken of in the prophecies, that He is the fulfillment of the law, and that He is in fact "King of the Jews" promised by God long ago.

As you read the book of Matthew, pay particular attention to these five distinguishing characteristics:

- Matthew's sensitivity to his Jewish audience
- His great interest in the end of the age and the Second Coming of Christ
- Teaching about the life of the Christian community and Christian fellowship
- The five main blocks of teaching
 - The Ethics of the Kingdom: The Sermon on the Mount (chapters 5-7)
 - Jesus and His Kingdom Preachers (chapter 10)
 - The Parables of the Kingdom (chapter 13)
 - Life in the Kingdom Community: The Church (chapter 18)
 - Judgment and the Coming of the King: Three Parables (chapters 24-25)
- Emphasis on Christ as King

(18:19,20) What do these two verses teach about prayer? About the importance of a community of believers?

REFLECT and PRAY

JESUS AS SERVANT

For even the son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.
(Mark 10:45).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK

One of Mark's favorite words is "immediately"--it occurs over forty times in the sixteen chapters of the gospel. In this shortest of the four gospels, Jesus is a man on the move. He enters a fallen planet, which is wrongly impressed by power--be it Roman oppression, financial clout, or nuclear madness.

Jesus Christ has come into this lost world as a person of inexhaustible and divine strength: 70 percent of this book deals with miracles that Jesus performed. Mark also shows us Jesus' tender side as well as His masterful teaching ability. Between wondrously healing the sick and feeding the hungry, Jesus takes time to bless and hold the children close to Him. He also teaches important lessons about the kingdom of God—which include the parables of the sower, the lamp, and the mustard seed. Three times Jesus predicts the passion which will surround His death.

Jesus Christ, God's Son and our Savior, is a man of genuine power which comes from God and which reveals itself in working His will. As you read the gospel of Mark, note the following:

- Jesus as God's powerful man on the move
- Jesus as God's conquering Son
- People's responses to Jesus
- Jesus' teachings on discipleship
- The context of the three Passion predictions

DAY 10: MARK 1-3

READ and ANSWER

(1:1-45) How many chapters did Matthew use to discuss the events of Mark 1? (This is the gospel of "immediately"!)

(2:1-5) Whose faith does Jesus notice in this healing of the paralytic? What does this say to you about the importance of the Christian community?

(3:20-30) What views of Jesus Christ are expressed here? Who holds these views? How is the view of the teachers of the law illogical?

REFLECT and PRAY

(1:17,18) In what area of your life is Jesus saying, "Follow me"? What is keeping you from responding as Simon and Andrew did?

RESPOND and GROW

(1:35) Note the quiet moment here between the healings, gathering of disciples, and teachings. What does this teach you about your busyness and your time for prayer?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 11: MARK 4-6

READ and ANSWER

(4:10-12,21-23) Why does Jesus speak in parables? How is the truth of a parable both hidden and revealed?

What qualities of Christ do Mark's accounts of His miracles bring into focus for you?

REFLECT and PRAY

(4:24,25) In light of what you're doing with what you read in the Bible, are verses 24 and 25 a promise you welcome or a warning you fear?

(6:34-44) Jesus fed 5000 hungry people with five loaves and two fish. What personal and practical needs do you want to bring before Him today? Spend some time in prayer.

RESPOND and GROW

(4:3-9,13-20) Parable of the Sower: What can you do to make your life "good soil" which will accept the Word of God and bear fruit?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 12: MARK 7-9

READ and ANSWER

(8:29) How do you answer Christ's question to Peter: "But who do you say that I am?" Jesus commanded Peter and the disciples not to share with anyone their knowledge of who He is. What does Christ command you to do with the knowledge? (See Matthew 28:18-20) Are you being obedient?

REFLECT and PRAY

(7:14-23) What discussion preceded this message to the crowd? Which of the things Jesus mentions come out of you and reveal some uncleanness in your heart? Talk to God about these things.

(8:11-13) In chapter 8, the Pharisees were seeking for a sign from heaven. Perhaps signs no longer come from heaven, but consider the past week. How has God revealed Himself to be a real part of your life?

(9:24) Imagine the emotions behind this desperate father's cry? Have you ever shared his feelings or echoed his cry? How has God helped you overcome your unbelief?

RESPOND and GROW

(9:35) Jesus teaches that "If anyone would be first, he must be last of all and servant of all" (Revised Standard Version). How was Jesus servant of all? How can you be a servant to someone today?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 13: MARK 10-12

READ and ANSWER

(12:1-12) What is Jesus' message in this parable of the tenants? Why, in your opinion, does this story cause the priests to plan to arrest Jesus?

(12:28-34) What is the great commandment which Jesus shares with a questioning scribe? Why is obedience to this two-part commandment more important to Jesus than burnt offerings and sacrifices?

REFLECT and PRAY

(11:15-19) Jesus cleanses the temple at Jerusalem. He overturns the tables of the money-changers and the chairs of those selling pigeons. Why did He do this? What might Jesus want to overturn in your life to cleanse it? Will you let Him?

(12:41-44) Why does Jesus approve of the widow's offering of two coins? Are you giving willingly out of your poverty? Are you giving generously out of your wealth?

RESPOND and GROW

(10:17-31) This conversation between Jesus and a rich young ruler serves as an example to His disciples and to us about the peril of riches. Which of your riches (material possessions, friends, goals, talents) might be standing between you and God? What are you going to do about this barrier?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 14: MARK 13-16

READ and ANSWER

(13:12,13) Have you seen families divided over the issues of Jesus Christ? How do you think God feels about this?

(14:53-65; 15:1-5) Look again at the way Jesus stood before Caiaphas and Pilate. What do you admire about Jesus? What puzzles you about His behavior?

REFLECT and PRAY

(14:32-42) Has there been a time in your life when you felt like Jesus in Gethsemane, when you cried to God and felt forsaken by Him? Talk to God about that time. How did that time affect your relationship with Him? What did you learn about God, your Father? What did you learn about yourself?

(15:39) What moved the centurion to pronounce, "Surely this man was the Son of God"? (What finally moved you to that realization?)

RESPOND and GROW

(16:14-18) How does the risen Jesus both scold and encourage the disciples? What commission does Jesus assign to His disciples and to us? How will you "preach the gospel" in your world today?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

The centurion, seeing what had happened, praised God and said, "Surely this was a righteous man" (Luke 23:47).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

- To whom is salvation available?
- Can I believe the details of Christ's life?
- What roles do prayer and the Holy Spirit have in my life?

Luke wrote, "...it seemed good also to me to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you may know the certainty of the things you have taught." (1:3,4)...Luke's purpose is just as valid for us 2000 years later. This gospel account is so detailed! Luke was a self-conscious and meticulous historian, as well as a trained physician, and his literary skills present a firm historical foundation for faith in Jesus Christ. His biography of Jesus is also an account of the beginning of the church, a history which is continued in the book of Acts.

Luke's gospel is characterized throughout by a strong note of joy--a note which four times breaks into hymns of praise: the Mary's song (1:46-55), the benediction of Zechariah (1:68-79), the proclamation of the angels (2:14), and the pronouncement of Simeon (2:29-32). The source of this joy is Luke's message to the world: God's salvation is available to all people through the death and resurrection of His Son, Jesus Christ.

Luke also emphasizes the importance of prayer and the work of the Holy Spirit. The selection of stories reflects Luke's own warm interest in people--the sick, the helpless, the poor, the social outcasts, the children, and, in a striking way, the women of that day. Two of Luke's favorite phrases are "preach the gospel" and "salvation"--phrases which summarize, the character of Jesus' ministry and the content of His message. The portrait which Luke paints of Jesus is that of perfect manhood: He is "Son of man" as well as "Son of God."

When you read Luke's account of the life of Jesus, look for these themes:

- The universal relevance of the message of Jesus Christ
- The joyful tone of praise
- The perspective and portraits of women
- The emphasis on prayer that Jesus' life modeled
- The sensitivity to a Gentile audience (The genealogy, for instance, goes back to Adam, son of God, rather than to Abraham)
- Luke's careful work as historian (He cites six datings to establish the time of John the Baptist--Luke 3:1,2)

DAY 15: LUKE 1-3

READ and ANSWER

(1:11-20) Consider Zechariah's reaction to the angel's news. Do you think it's irreverent? Understandable? Surprising?

(2:8-20) The shepherds respond to the angels and their message in three stages. What are these three stages? Have you experienced any them, and if so, which one(s) and when?

(3:7-18) What is John's message? Describe his approach.

REFLECT and PRAY

(1:26-38) Think about the issue of an unmarried mother at this time. What do Mary's reactions reveal about her character? Has there ever been a time when you've had to struggle between having people's approval and submitting to God? If so, which did you choose? What was the outcome?

RESPOND and GROW

(1:46-56) How might you describe the emotions behind Mary's song? Why does she praise God? Which of those reasons can you also praise God for?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 16: LUKE 4-6

READ and ANSWER

(4:28-30) Imagine this scene--what kind of emotions might people be feeling? Can you imagine the scene, the people, the noise level? What do you think of how Jesus handled the excited mob?

(5:12, 13) Who asks for healing in this passage? How does Jesus respond? Why might Jesus' touch be significant to a leper? Imagine the inner healing caused by that simple gesture.

REFLECT and PRAY

(4:1-6) What is going on in these six verses? What does Jesus' example teach about the value of knowing Scripture? What comfort do you get from reading that Jesus was tempted--just as you are?

RESPOND and GROW

(4:42; 5:16; 6:12) What significant pattern emerges? Is this a pattern of your life? Should it be? If you think so, start today!

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 17: LUKE 7-9

READ and ANSWER

(8:22-25) What do you imagine the disciples feeling as they woke Jesus? What happened to their faith?

(9:46-48) What do you think Jesus felt when he heard the disciples' argument? Jesus and His disciples obviously had different definitions of greatness, what do you think the disciples learned here? What does Jesus' teaching mean to you?

REFLECT and PRAY

(7:41-47) Why did the woman "who had lived a sinful life" love Jesus so deeply? Why do you love Jesus? How have specific instances of His forgiveness increased your love for Him?

(9:57-62) What excuses do these people have for not following Jesus? What excuses do you have for not following Him today?

RESPOND and GROW

(8:19-21) How does Jesus identify His mother and brothers? How might you look like a mother or brother to Jesus today (in other words, what part of Jesus' teaching will you put into practice today)?

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

DAY 18: LUKE 10-12

READ and ANSWER

JESUS AS ETERNAL SON OF GOD

But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God and that by believing you may have life in his name. (John 20:31).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO JOHN

- Who did Jesus claim to be?
- What did Jesus teach?
- Why might I believe in who He is and what He teaches?

John's gospel is a call to faith: his specifically evangelistic purpose is to produce in his listeners a faith in Jesus as the Son of God. Consequently, he has chosen those events and teachings which bring into focus the specific claims of Jesus. Written to be understood by the Greek Jews alike, John's gospel again and again emphasizes the priority of Jesus as Son of God and belief in Him as the source of real life—both now and in eternity.

The ultimate question for faith is, "Who is Jesus?" and John sets up the multi-part answer as he presents seven signs, seven discourses, and seven "I am" statements made by Jesus. An outline of these elements is essentially an outline of the gospel. More importantly, this outline is a foundation for belief. As you read John's gospel, be sensitive to the urgency of Jesus' ministry: His time on earth is controlled by "the hour" when God's redemptive purpose will be accomplished through the crucifixion (2:4; 4:21,23; 5:25,28; 7:30; 8:30; 12:23,27; 13:1; 17:1).

THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

- How will I know what to say to unbelievers?
- Will I be bold enough to speak?
- What will characterize my relationships with other believers?

In his gospel, Luke provided a detailed account of the life of Jesus and the beginning of the Christian movement in the first-century world. In the book of Acts, Luke covers a period of approximately thirty years from the birth of the church (with the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost) to Paul's imprisonment in Rome. While the "acts" in this book are mainly those of Peter and Paul, the book might be even more appropriately titled "The Acts of the Holy Spirit." It is direction and power of the Holy Spirit which enable the work of the apostles and missionaries.

With the same attention to detail found in his gospel, Luke (the historian) tells the ongoing story of salvation as it spreads throughout the New Testament world. First, the day of Pentecost marks Jesus gift of His Spirit to the church: The Holy Spirit would allow the early church--and us today--to do its mission of making the gospel known. The command of the resurrected Jesus outlines the general movement of the gospel message "in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth" (1:8). In Acts, Luke shows that this movement is happening as he tells of the expansion of Christianity with six brief progress reports (6:7; 9:31; 12:24; 16:5; 19:20; 28:31).

Luke's writing also reflects a certain interest in apologetics (defending the faith): He writes to commend Christianity to the Roman government and carefully points out that Christians were not enemies of the Empire. Today's reader can also find Acts as a model of Christian worship and fellowship, as well as inspirational examples of the bold and life-changing witness of everyday people. The unmistakable lesson is this: despite the opposition encountered by those who responded to Jesus' Great Commission and due to the power they received from the Holy Spirit, "the word of God continued to increase and spread" (12:24).

JUSTIFICATION BY FAITH

I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile. For in the gospel a righteousness from God is revealed, a righteousness that is by faith from first to last, just as it is written: "The righteous will live by faith." (Romans 1:16,17)

THE LETTER TO THE ROMANS

- Do I really need God?
- What must I do to receive God's forgiveness and the gift of eternal life?
- How will my life reflect my beliefs?

A letter containing both doctrine and practical instruction, the book of Romans answers the ancient question, "...how can people be righteous before God?" (Job 9:2). The theme of Romans is that faith in Christ is the only basis upon which we can be accepted by God. Wanting to introduce himself to the church at Rome, which he had not yet visited, Paul carefully outlined the fundamental principles of the gospel.

The doctrine of justification by faith alone is the truth which the letter teaches: God lays on us the righteousness of His Son if we believe in Him--He clothes us in Jesus Christ--and He treats us as if we never sinned. In other words, when we have faith in God, He looks at us through Christ and accepts us into His family and into His kingdom of everlasting life. In writing about this, Paul discusses first the principle of righteousness (chapters 1-11) then its effect on the life of a believer (chapters 12-16).

THE LORDSHIP OF CHRIST

To the church of God in Corinth, to those sanctified in Christ Jesus and called to be holy, together with all those everywhere who call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ-their Lord and ours... (1 Corinthians 1:2).

PAUL'S FIRST LETTER TO THE CHURCH AT CORINTH

- How can a believer stand strong in a world filled with all kinds of craziness?
- Messengers are greater than the message they proclaim, and rivalry within the church results.
- When human wisdom is valued over God's wisdom; philosophy or science becomes a god.
- Society is characterized by open immorality and values are threatened by the pressure of materialism.

Paul's first letter to the people of Corinth could easily be addressed to believers today who are wrestling with questions about their faith--especially, "How do we live by God's principles in today's world?" How should Christian love reveal itself in our daily lives? What role should spiritual gifts play in a worship service? How is the resurrection of Jesus the foundation of our faith?

As if these issues weren't enough for a young church, the Corinthians were also struggling against the influences of a pagan and immoral society. Paul was confronting believers about sexual immorality, lawsuits against one another, marriage and divorce, and a variety of behaviors which could cause other believers to stumble.

To this city notorious for its immoral ways (the term "corinthianize" had come to mean "to live an immoral life"), Paul offers this letter of rebuke with some intensely practical advice about living a life of faith. He writes strong words, of correction, encouraging words of the power that God supplies when we are tempted, and inspiring words about love being the greatest of all spiritual gifts. As you read these sixteen chapters, be looking for how the world of Corinth and your own world might appear similar.

PAUL'S SECOND LETTER TO THE CHURCH AT CORINTH

- What does God's grace mean in my life?
- How will trusting Jesus with my life change me?
- How am I to be a steward of my money?

Scholars still puzzle over the number of letters Paul wrote to the church at Corinth and the number of times he visited. Some people feel that Paul wrote a second and more severe letter after 1 Corinthians failed to bring people to repentance. The book we refer to as 2 Corinthians, then, would be the third in the sequence. Whether it is second or third, though, the thirteen chapters reflect Paul's joy and relief at the changes in the Corinthian church. The letter stands as one of the most emotional and personal of Paul's writings.

Paul shares both words of great despair and ecstatic joy as he writes of his love and concern for the Corinthian believers. Paul, too, tells of his own sufferings--the danger and disappointment, the hardship and humiliation--which he experiences as he carries out his commission to spread the news of Jesus Christ. Chapters 10-13 contain sharp words in defense of his ministry--a response to hostile Corinthians who have challenged his authority. (This section may be the remaining part of Paul's missing second letter to the church.)

Still, joy and tenderness characterize chapters 1-9. Note the frequent occurrence of the words "comfort" and "ministry". Besides being a spirited defense of his ministry, 2 Corinthians emerges as a Paul's loving attempt to guide the church in Corinth to a life of unity and love for one another. Three dominant themes emerge: (1) God's grace is sufficient for all things; (2) people are new creatures in Christ; and (3) Christian giving should be a joyful act of love.

I do not set aside the grace of God, for if righteousness could be gained through the law, Christ died for nothing! (Galatians 2:21)

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE GALATIANS

- What is the doctrine of justification?
- How can I know when I am dealing with a cultic or heretical movement?
- What freedom does a believer find in Christ Jesus?

Likely written some ten years before the book of Romans, Paul's letter to the Galatians speaks strongly to the same great theme of Christian freedom. This short letter has been called the Magna Carta of Christian liberty; Galatians stands as Paul's criticism of Jewish Christians who attempt to minimize that freedom with the bonds of Jewish legalism (specifically the laws of circumcision and diet). Paul writes about the doctrine of justification by faith. He emphasizes that the inward, spiritual nature of Christianity is quite different from the mere external behaviors of other religious practices.

Martin Luther offered this description of the book of Galatians: "St. Paul goeth about to establish the doctrine of faith, grace, forgiveness of sins, or Christian righteousness, to the end that we may have a perfect knowledge and difference between Christian righteousness and all other kinds of righteousness." Paul explains that Jesus is sufficient for our salvation in opposition to cults and other religions that wrongly proclaim the message "Jesus plus...."

In developing his argument, Paul defines the gospel of salvation by grace alone and explains our faith as the proper response to God's grace toward us through the life, death, and resurrection of His Son, Jesus Christ. Paul also discusses the fruit of a life of grace and defends his own ministry. This book of Christian freedom is strongly worded and carefully argued as Paul offers believers, then and now, the call to be free in Christ.

THE CHURCH: THE BODY OF CHRIST

And God placed all things under his [Jesus'] feet and appointed him to be head over everything for the church, which is his body, the fullness of him who fills everything in every way (Ephesians 1:22,23).

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE EPHESIANS

- Why should I be a member of a church?
- How am I to act as a member of the church--as a member of the body of Christ?

Although modern scholarship has cast doubts on whether the apostle Paul is the author of this letter, conservative scholars give Paul the credit for this letter. In doing so, they credit Paul with writing a definitive statement about the church being the body of Christ and believers being members of that body. Paul uses three figures of speech to describe this mystical community of believers--the temple (2:21, 22), the human body (1:22, 23; 4:15,) and a bride (5:25-32)--but the image of the human body is most strongly emphasized.

Paul opens this letter with words of praise for God's plan to "bring all things in heaven and on earth together under one head, even Christ" (1:10). Despite various backgrounds, races, cultures, or social standings, we are all equal when we accept Jesus Christ. Some critics feel that the wording of this message reads more like a sermon than a pastoral letter. Whatever the original purpose of Ephesians, Paul's wonder at the mystical unity of people in Christ is unmistakable. It is on this theological basis that Paul offers practical instruction about life as a member of Christ's body as well as life in relation to the world. He also addresses the privileges and responsibilities involved in the relationships between husbands and wives, parents and children, masters and slaves: We are to express our oneness in Christ by our everyday relationships with others.

UNITY AT ALL COSTS

Join with others in following my example...I plead with Euodia and I plead with Syntyche to agree with each other in the Lord... (Philippians 3:17 and 4:2).

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

- How can people with different personalities and different opinions work together well in the body of Christ?
- Why is unity so important?
- What can I learn from Jesus' example?

A simple statistic introduces the tone of Paul's letter to the church at Philippi: The word "joy" or "rejoice" occurs twelve times in the four short chapters. In what has been called a love letter to the Philippians, Paul thanks them for their gifts, tells them of his own situation in prison, explains why he is sending Epaphroditus (the bearer of the people's gift to Paul) back to them, and offers encouragement to these believers who are dear to him.

Paul also addresses the key issue of unity among believers. Having learned of division that threatens the peace and usefulness of the church, Paul exhorts the believers to live, act, and witness in the unity of the Holy Spirit. Paul fails to recognize two parties: He instead uses the word "all" again and again throughout the letter. He rejoices that the Philippians are partners with him in spreading the gospel and later urges the community not to be marred by selfishness, pride, or party spirit.

Finally, Paul reveals a glimpse of himself as he writes of his commitment to Jesus Christ and his desire to know Him and make Him known to others. Consider, too, Paul's utter contentment in any circumstance as long as Christ is his strength (4:11-13). Still, the overarching theme is a call to unity. Whereas Ephesians speaks of the church as the body of Christ, Philippians shows how that unity can either be broken or preserved.

THE SUPREMACY OF CHRIST

See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy, which depends on human tradition and the basic principles of this world rather than on Christ (Colossians 2:8).

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE COLOSSIANS

- Is Jesus simply an exceptional teacher and merely a gifted human being?
- How do the gospel teachings about Jesus compare with the teachings of the world?
- What is the Christian answer to false teachings about God and Jesus?

Having learned of a threat to the otherwise healthy church at Colossae, Paul writes to the Colossians and attests to the uniqueness and sufficiency of Jesus as the Savior of all. Apparently, the Colossians were trying to add several ideas that they believed were important to their faith: gnosticism, asceticism, angel worship, and the Jewish rites of circumcision, diet, and festivals.

The gnostic philosophy deprived Jesus of His unique status as the Son of God by reducing Him to one of a series of divine beings coming from God. This series of creatures was designed to bridge the gap between the essentially holy God and the essentially evil flesh of human beings. The teaching that Jesus was so emptied of His divinity (being God) that He could finally be a man (only human) was a dangerous heresy which Paul counters by various statements of who Jesus is. (See also the introduction to 1 John.)

As Paul outlines this portrait of Christ in all His dignity, deity, and glory, he focuses on the preeminence of Jesus as the image of God, the fullness of God, the Creator, and the head of the church. Paul discusses Christ's work as well as Christ's Person: Jesus has freed us from darkness, redeemed us from sin, and reconciled us to God by His blood on the cross. Most importantly, Jesus has become the believer's life (3:4), and so Paul urges us to hold fast to Him.

THE COMING OF THE LORD FOR HIS PEOPLE

...and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead--Jesus, who rescues us from the coming wrath (1 Thessalonians 1:10).

PAUL'S FIRST LETTER TO THE THESSALONIANS

- How long are we to wait for Jesus' return?
- How should we live in the meantime?
- What are some details about the Second Coming?

When persecution began following Paul's founding of the church at Thessalonica (Acts 17:1-9), the people sent their beloved missionary away. Upon leaving, Paul remained extremely concerned about the new believers and their existence in the face of heated persecution. When Timothy joined him in Corinth with the good news of the Thessalonian church, Paul writes a letter full of joy and relief--and a letter which answers certain questions that had arisen.

First, Paul praises the church for its courage and steadfastness in the face of persecution. He addresses problems--a distrust of the apostle himself, sexual immorality, internal division--and answers questions which were confusing the church: what happens to the person who dies before Christ returns? Why should we work if Christ will be coming back soon? As Paul deals with these specific issues, he writes with the heart of a pastor: He rejoices in the church yet he is concerned about their welfare; he simultaneously thanks God for these people and prays for their needs; he challenges them to live in a manner worthy of Christ's followers.

THE COMING OF THE LORD

...This will happen when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven in blazing fire with his powerful angels. He will punish those who do not know God and do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus (2 Thessalonians 1:7, 8).

PAUL'S SECOND LETTER TO THE THESSALONIANS

- What events will precede the Second Coming of Jesus?
- Which is more important--doing my work or watching for signs of the end?

Although the verdict of scholars is not unanimous, it appears that 2 Thessalonians was written shortly after 1 Thessalonians. This second letter was likely written to reinforce certain teachings and to clarify some misunderstandings that had arisen. These points are prominent in this brief letter: (1) Paul describes specific events which will precede Christ's Second Coming; (2) He reprimands those who have abandoned their work under the premise that Christians have special privileges; and (3) he warns of undue emphasis on "times and seasons."

Paul again commends the people of Thessalonica for their courage in the face of growing persecution. At the same time, though, he is steadfast in his teaching regarding Christ's return--"sudden" does not mean "immediate"--and he exhorts the believers to lead holy and productive lives in the meantime.

THE PASTORAL EPISTLES

The letters of 1 Timothy, 2 Timothy, and Titus comprise the trio known as the “pastoral epistles.” Written to individuals rather than to churches, these three letters outline the qualifications and responsibilities of church leaders. The focus is on each person--on one's integrity, on actions that demonstrate belief, and on conscientious and faithful service to God and His people. These letters also address the question of how to deal with heretical or rebellious people, thereby emphasizing the importance of doctrinal purity.

The question of authorship is an interesting historical, theological, and linguistic study. Scholars debate whether or not these letters were edited by a scribe who included fragments of his own work. But we can't say for sure that Paul didn't write the letters; therefore, for convenience we will refer to the writer as Paul.

CONDUCT IN GOD'S HOUSEHOLD

...you will know how people ought to conduct themselves in God's household, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and foundation of the truth (1 Timothy 3:15).

THE FIRST LETTER TO TIMOTHY

- How are we to deal with false teachers?
- Who is qualified to serve in a leadership position in the church?
- What is the role of good works in my life as a follower of Jesus?

First and Second Timothy were written to the evangelist Timothy while he was working on the important and difficult assignment of discipling men to become pastors (or congregational leaders). Paul's main advice to Timothy is “avoid”--avoid false teachers and heretical doctrine and preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. Note the instruction for a life of discipleship and the teachings about good works which are still quite relevant today.

THE SECOND LETTER TO TIMOTHY

- Can faith survive in the midst of persecution?
- Are we to keep preaching even when we suffer for doing so?

This intensely personal letter seems to be written by an imprisoned and lonely Paul. Finding himself deserted by friends and desperately longing for Christian companionship, Paul shares with Timothy these final and strikingly emotional words. These words are Paul's triumphant statements of faith--which are strong despite his persecution and suffering. He also encourages believers to endure suffering and to entrust the gospel message to faithful teachers.

- What kind of life should a Christian worker lead?

Like the pastoral epistles to Timothy, the letter to Titus addresses church organization, false teaching, and immoral conduct. Paul offers Titus instruction about the post of elder or bishop. He exhorts Titus and the people he leads to take a stand against false teaching and to live a life that reinforces their Christian belief.

PRACTICE OF CHRISTIAN FORGIVENESS

So if you consider me a partner, welcome him as you would welcome me (Philemon 17).

PAUL'S LETTER TO PHILEMON

- What actions correspond to words of forgiveness?
- What words can encourage forgiveness?

The only example of Paul's private correspondence that has been preserved, this letter to Philemon reveals not only the character of its author but is also an illustration of Christian forgiveness. While in prison, Paul had befriended Onesimus, Philemon's run-away slave. Although Paul had come to love this young man and had influenced his conversion to Christianity, he knew that Onesimus was Philemon's lawful slave.

In writing to Philemon, Paul asks for compassion in Philemon's dealings with Onesimus--a man who is returning a different person than the one who had fled (apparently with the aid of his master's money). Onesimus is now a brother in Christ, and Paul urges Philemon to accept him (Paul doesn't plead for Philemon to free Onesimus, but verses 16 and 17 more than hint at this). Note what is revealed of Paul's character in his plea for Onesimus and the tact and wisdom with which he states his case.

CHRIST'S WORK FOR OUR SALVATION

But the ministry Jesus has received is as superior to theirs [the Old Testament priests] as the covenant of which he is mediator is superior to the old one, and it is founded on better promises (Hebrews 8:6).

THE LETTER TO THE HEBREWS

- What do the Old Testament teachings of the Hebrew nation say about Jesus, the One who claims to be the Messiah?
- Since the events of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection, what is the significance of the Old Testament laws, sacrifices, and priests?
- How am I to serve Jesus, the superior priest?

Although questions surround the origin of this letter--neither author, intended recipient, date, or place of origin can be identified with certainty--it stands as an eloquent defense of the Christian faith, especially its superiority to Judaism. Apparently addressed to a group of Christian Jews wavering between their Jewish heritage and their newfound Christianity, Hebrews states the case for Christianity by showing it to be the fulfillment of the Judaism.

The writer of Hebrews compares and contrasts Jesus and His achievements with the priesthood and sacrificial system of the Old Testament. The writer concludes that Jesus Christ is superior to prophets and angels, to Moses and Joshua, and to the Aaronic priesthood. Jesus Christ is the perfect priest who offers the perfect sacrifice--Himself on the cross. Jesus removed once and for all the barrier of sin that stood between God and man and so enables people to enjoy fellowship with God.

As you read Hebrews, notice the great roll call of heroes of the Christian faith, the writer's emphasis on the humanity of Jesus, and the exhortations and warnings regarding Christian living (which are spread out between sections of exposition and teaching). Note, too, the persistent tone as the writer urges his readers to commit themselves to Christ: Turning back to the inferior substitute of Judaism would cost them their very lives.

FAITH AND WORKS

As the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without deeds is dead (James 2:26).

THE LETTER TO JAMES

- Isn't it enough that I believe in Jesus?
- How can I stand strong against the influences of the world?
- Why do I say things that are hurtful--things that I don't really mean?

As soon as we receive the Christian message, we are to live the Christian life--such is the basis of James' letter. True faith in Christ always spills over into the rest of life: James call to us to be doers of the Word will be obeyed as a natural result of our faith in Jesus and our relationship with Him. Furthermore, the assertion that faith is alive only when it is evident in works complements rather than contradicts Paul's teaching. While Paul teaches that works of the law cannot bring salvation--only faith can--James teaches that this saving faith must necessarily reveal itself in good works--without good works there is no faith.

On this foundation that faith without works is dead, James constructs a manual of faith. He instructs his readers on the issues of charity, chastity, curbing anger, taming the tongue, withholding judgment, managing material wealth, and swearing. When followed, these specific hints of practical advice can help a believer resist the devil and draw near to God: This is an letter about holy living.

Therefore, since Christ suffered in his body, arm yourselves also with the same attitude, because he has suffered in his body is done with sin (1 Peter 4:1).

THE FIRST LETTER TO PETER

- How can faith in Jesus help me cope with trials?
- What examples does Jesus give me for dealing with difficult times?

In this letter, Peter is a practical theologian: his letter abounds in Christian doctrine that connects with real life. Written to Christians who are suffering under some kind of persecution (the “painful trial” of 4:12), Peter’s message is one of comfort, hope, and encouragement to stand firm in their faith in Jesus. Peter also reminds his readers that Christ Himself is an example of how to face suffering and that God the Father is sovereign and therefore trustworthy even during difficult times. Peter adds that the unseen Christ is never far away, that believers will share the glory of His reappearance, and that the expectation of His return should motivate His people to holy living.

FAITHFUL REMEMBRANCE

... he has given us his very great and precious promises, so that through them you may participate in the divine nature and escape the corruption in the world caused by evil desires (2 Peter 1:4).

THE SECOND LETTER TO PETER

- How can I arm myself against false teachings?
- What is the nature of true knowledge?
- Why has Jesus not yet returned?

Although authorship of this brief letter has been widely debated, the value of its message is undeniable. Peter warns Christians of false teachers and their corrupting doctrines. The theme, therefore, is true knowledge of the Lord and faithful remembrance of God, His nature, and His promises. As in 1 Peter, readers are called to practical holiness and to live with the awareness that the Day of the Lord is coming.

In light of these points, the writer of 2 Peter asserts that believers must stand strong against false doctrine and the destruction that it can cause. While 1 Peter addresses the issue of persecution by enemies and offers consolation in the face of suffering, 2 Peter warns believers to beware of the darkness of false teachings that can lead to sinful living. The writer of 2 Peter, therefore, reminds his readers of the truth of the gospel.

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

KNOW GOD AND ENJOY FELLOWSHIP WITH HIM

We proclaim to you what we have seen and heard, so that you also may have fellowship with us. And our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ (1 John 1:3).

THE FIRST LETTER OF JOHN

- What kind of fellowship does God want us to experience with Him and with other believers?
- How can a believer walk in the light of God?

While John's gospel was written to bring people to faith (John 20:31), his first letter is intended to renew faith that has been shaken by false teaching. The heresy John is battling is gnosticism: this sect, claiming to have a superior knowledge of God, looked down on those who adhered to the gospel. The gnostic philosophy that spirit is pure and the physical is evil led to their denial of Christ's humanity. God being good could have nothing to do with evil matter; therefore, He could not have been human in Christ. In this letter, John clearly teaches that this viewpoint cuts out the very heart of the gospel: if Christ did not become man and die for human sin, there is no Christian faith. (See also the introduction to Colossians.)

As the apostle John counters this heresy, he also writes about what it means to live as a Christian: knowledge of God and fellowship with Him will be evident in righteousness of life, brotherly love, and faith in Jesus as God incarnate. The three topics of love, sin, and new birth are foundational to the letter. Note, too, the frequent occurrence of the words "know" or its equivalent and the writers use of various contrasts (light with darkness or love of the world versus love for God, for instance). Finally, John calls believers to walk in the light of God's commandments. We do this by loving one another, for God is love.

(4:15-21) The hymn to love continues:

What idea, verse, or phrase can change my experience today?

TRUTH: RECEIVE, OBEY AND CHERISH IT

...because of the truth, which lives in us and will be with us forever (2 John 2).

THE SECOND LETTER OF JOHN

- What is the primary command Jesus gives us to live by?
- What truth can help us stand against false teaching?

Questions surround this little message on truth and love. The author may be the apostle John or an unknown John; the person addressed may be a particular woman, or the "chosen lady and her children" may be metaphorical for the church. Whatever the interpretation, the letter itself focuses on the essential Christian theme that Jesus commands His followers to love one another.

The letter also picks up the warning of 1 John: Beware of false teachers. The letter indicates the importance of excluding hospitality to anyone whose teaching contradicts the truth of Jesus. Only then could faith can survive. As he writes toward this important purpose, the author uses the word "love" four times and "truth" five times in the thirteen verses. He calls believers to stand strong in the truth of Jesus Christ which he defends here.

HOSPITALITY AND LEADERSHIP

We ought therefore to show hospitality to such men so that we may work together for the truth (3 John 8).

THE THIRD LETTER OF JOHN

- In what practical ways can we love one another?

Like 2 John, this letter deals with the issue of visiting preachers who, as traveling evangelists, relied on the hospitality of Christians as they traveled. The situation which the writer (probably the author of 2 John) addresses in this letter involves two men: the kind and hospitable Gaius, and Diotrephes, the arrogant church official who attacked John's character and refused to receive the travelers John commended to him. Also mentioned is Demetrius, perhaps the writer's messenger, and a man praised by all for his life of truth. This two-part message of the church's duty to welcome fellow believers and the danger of petty dictators arising within the church is grounded in a discussion of truth. Truth is the basis of the writer's love and, according to his exhortation, is to be the foundation of our Christian service.

Keep yourselves in God's love as you wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to bring you to eternal life (Jude 21).

THE LETTER OF JUDE

- How can I be strong against false teachers?
- How can I identify false teachers?

This solemn letter by Jude, "a servant of Jesus Christ and a brother of James" (verse 1), is written to Christians who are threatened by traitors and by people who have rejected the faith but have remained in the church. The author condemns these false teachers for their arrogance and immorality and for their denial of the lordship of Jesus. In light of his situation, Jude expounds on the danger of apostasy by citing several Old Testament and apocryphal examples of God's judgment on faithless Israelites. Woven into this message that God judges corporate as well as individual wickedness are exhortations to believers to keep believing and to keep living as God has commanded. The closing note is one of praise for God who can keep His people standing fast.

Write, therefore, what you have seen, what is now and what will take place later (Revelation 1:19).

THE BOOK OF THE REVELATION OF JOHN

- Looking at the state of the world, how can I have hope?
- This fallen world seems locked in the bonds of Satan--what, therefore, will the “end of the age” mean?

When approaching and interpreting this difficult book of the New Testament, a reader must consider the audience for which Revelation was first written. John wrote to encourage early Christians who were facing a devastating persecution by Rome, and the words he shares are intended to convey a message for hope and victory.

John's message, though, is full of symbols that would mean much to believers and nothing to their persecutors. These symbols as well as other standard characteristics of this apocalyptic (end times) writing--references to supernatural events, unearthly creatures, metaphors, pseudonyms, and numbers--make Revelation a puzzle for most readers. Furthermore, as a poetic and visionary work written in picture-language, Revelation is not to be taken literally; it is not a logical treatise or a strict chronological account. While far from being the straightforward writing that we current day believers are familiar with, Revelation can still offer us the same hope and encouragement that it did its first-century readers.

As John writes in the opening line, this book focuses on "the revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his servants what must soon take place (1:1). Having received this information from an angel Jesus sent him, John writes of “what is now and what will take place later” (1:19)--and what will take place is the return of Jesus Christ, the passing away of the earth, the final defeat of Satan, and the end of sorrow, pain, and tears.

Four main interpretive views have been used by people trying to understand this book and its message: (1) the preterist view--prophecies refer only to Jesus' day and have therefore already been fulfilled; (2) the historical view--the predictions are a preview of history and so are in the process of being fulfilled; (3) the futurist view--the visions are relevant to the end of the age rather than to the time of the prophet, and (4) the poetic or spiritual view--the writer is artistically describing the final triumph of God over evil, and therefore, literal or historical interpretation is illegitimate. Different end times schemes (premillennial, postmillennial, and amillennial) have also arisen as readers have considered the meaning of this book.

Whatever the choice of interpretive approaches and time frames, the book of Revelation continues to communicate the fact that God is in control of this world, and that Jesus is Lord of all history. The promise of Revelation is a glorious future for a believer who stands strong: The world is in the hands of a faithful and loving God.
